

Thanking you for inquiry as to the present day activity of MISS GERALDINE FARRAR, it gives her pleasure to remark that since her retirement from opera in 1922, and the concert stage in 1932, she is the chatelaine of a country estate about 50 miles from New York, living mostly in such rural seclusion.

During the war years of World War 2nd, she was active in many avenues and the second photo enclosed will show her in the uniform of the AMERICAN WOMENS VOLUNTARY SERVICES.

Miss Farrar enjoys her gardens, pets, and auto rather than the city excitements, and the music she prefers comes to her via radio, save on rare occasions when she visits the metropolis for a concert in person, by KIRSTEN FLAGSTAD, ARTUR RUBENSTEIN or the FABULOUS TOSCANINI..

per Miss Blein; Sec'y.

Ridgefield, Connecticut. 16 September 1948.

Tecnológico
de Monterrey