CHIEF EDITOR EL NORTE
WASHINGTON OTE. 629 APDO. 186
MONTERREY, N.L. MEXICO

Dear Friend:

Because of illness in my family it has not been possible for me to reply as soon as I had hoped. Enclosed you will find listed biographic material.

Regarding the biographic article written about me by Mary Emma Woolley, may I say that any use or quotation from this article would be of interest to multitudes of men and women, if for no other reason than because Dr Woolley wrote it. No doubt you are already familiar with her great life but the enclosed sketch about Mary Emma Woolley which I sent to the United States Press at the time of her death September 5, 1947, might with its collateral data prove of use to you. Also you will find enclosed a brief account of the close of her life here in my old family country home which we shared together.

Since WHOS WHO deals only with the past and present and not with the future, some of the enclosed material will tell you that I am now engaged in writing Dr Woolley's biography as well as something about my biographic work in the past in GENIUS AND DISASTER and in THE FAMILY OF THE BARRETT.

In the community of interest which Mexico and the United States share, I have followed with deep admiration all that I could learn about your civilization--its past and present vitality--including all that your gifted and generous women have been accomplishing along social and educational lines. Not only should men and women work together in a noble and progressive partnership but also Mexico and the United States should share--as they certainly will a common fate--in the progress of a united democracy.

Believe me, with appreciation of the honor of your interest and that of EL NORTE, and with good wishes for all your work,

Yours faithfully

Jeannette Marks
