Mr. Dayton Kohler

Dear Mr. Kohler:

You begin your last letter by apologizing for your delay in answering my last letter to you. That is a great comfort to me now, since I am writing you after so long a delay since receiving yours of January 24. I don't need to tell you how overwhelmed I am by correspondence at this period of my life.

I should have told you as soon as the photographs came in but they were safely here and have been put back with my other old-time photographs. With every good greeting.

Faithfully yours,

Paul Sayre

a new book just out has a little paragraph of reminiscence about Willa Cather. This is a biography of Roscoe Paul, written by Paul Sayre, published in Iowa City, Iowa by the college of Law committee. On page 61 - 62, there is a little description of her as a co-ed student undergraduate by someone who knew her then.
